

AMBASSADOR TRAINING CONTINUES

The next Ambassadors Program training class will be held on Wednesday, September 15, 2010 at 7:30pm at Tudor Hall in Bel Air.

“We are very pleased with our inaugural class. Not just with the number of people who want to be Ambassadors, but also with the enthusiasm of those who came,” according to Don Thomann, Chief Diplomat of the program. “And we are thrilled that even more people have expressed interest in joining us to spread the word about The Center.”

We are looking for people to assist us in raising awareness of The Center and its goals. Our Ambassadors appear before various civic organizations, business groups, social clubs, and at special events. Training in public speaking is provided, as well as the detailed information you need to speak about The Center with confidence. We give you all of the tools you’ll need!

The Ambassadors program is a fun, interesting and rewarding way to make an ongoing contribution to the vitality of the arts in our community.

If you are looking for a way to contribute to the Center for the Arts, contact The Center for the Arts (410) 838-2177 or email DonsVoices@aol.com.